There is a wonderful one created by some Unity folks and I'm trying to locate it for you. I believe it is based on the book about the donkey. The play was written by Kim Hudson who is a former Children's Ministry Consultant, author of Unity curriculum, and a license Unity teacher and counselor. It has a New Thought slant and would be fun to do.

We did one at CSLSeattle last year that was very successful. It was adapted from the book They Followed a Bright Star. I will provide contact info for that ASAP.

Also I put one together and used it at two different Unity churches. It's called the "ABC's of Christmas". I loved it because it was VERY easy--no outside rehearsals were needed. Whoever showed up could be in it although some kids did get attached to certain parts as we read and walked through it for a few Sundays before. What made it work was the creation and use of props which gave a simple structure to the play. I am happy to share it. I will provide it to whomever is interested.
